Greetings,
I once again wish to voice my support for David Anderson's ordinance on public safety, Ordinance 2025-21, up for vote at this evening's meeting. As I mentioned in my email two weeks ago, I believe that the matter of people in the medians is primarily a concern for (their own) public safety and its my hope passing this ordinance gives the city appropriate power to resolve problems safely.

One of the comments/posts I've seen shared on Facebook, from Ryan Halpern (https://www.facebook.com/ryan.halpern.3/posts/pfbid0sXgEeS1sMfuKFWsAV6mu4YziWC1Wx56pEU9SDkuUrFPS9tVGom2yFapVYdFBeQGrl), really speaks to my own concern of wanting no harm to come to people in medians, being so close to moving vehicles. His additional suggestion that this ordinance would give police the ability to escort them off the median and _direct them to services really_ is key.

Thanks again for your time.

I have lived in Dover for well over 20 years and have witnessed a downward slide of apparent concern for public safety, laws, and ordinances. Almost daily when I drive around Dover, I encounter poor drivers, speeders, and DWIs. However, the most concerning for me are the people crossing streets and highways with no crosswalks, as well as the panhandlers in the medians. I have, on several occasions, witnessed people in some kind of distress, staggering close to the edge, in peril of falling off the median. It's just not safe for them, and risks drivers accidentally causing harm when they certainly don't wish that. It's my hope that a stronger ordinance regarding pedestrians may encourage better behavior when coupled with proper enforcement.
